

Parents of ADD/ADHD Children, May I Have Your Attention?

Does your child take stimulant medication?
Are you concerned about the potential health risks?

I am Dr. Randy W. Green, a NYS Licensed Psychologist and founder of Creative Solutions, a collaborative, consultative practice where YOU are the star. Having worked with children for many years, I have never been more excited about the possibilities for bringing happiness and self-esteem to those diagnosed with ADD/ADHD - and their families. I can now offer an extraordinary opportunity to parents based on an exciting new model of personal identity.

Child Guidance Begins with Parental Guidance

Your child will learn to become more focused and centered simply by being around you in a new way—and without having to dispense potentially harmful medications. You can help your child approach life's daily challenges with a calm demeanor and attentive mind.

Register now for, “Parental Guidance”
... a profound group experience.

Through the work we do together, I will help you restore order and balance in your family; and improve your child's self-esteem. And unlike so many aspects of parenting, you will get all the credit!
